

EUROPEAN PLUM VARIETIES 2023

Variety	Approx. Harvest	Fruit & Flavor	Comments	Pollination
 Blue Damson	August/September	Small, round, tart, blue fruits. Freestone.	Old variety; productive; vigorous growth. Excellent for preserves.	Considered self-fertile, better fruit set when pollinated with any other European Plum
 Brooks	August	Large, purplish-black fruit; sweet yellow flesh. Freestone	Excellent fresh eating, also canning and drying; early reliable producer	Pollinate with any other European Plum
 Green Gage	August	Small to medium yellow-green fruit; juicy, sweet amber flesh. Freestone.	Old standard; Great for desserts, canning, or preserves.	Pollinate with any other European Plum
 Imperial Epineuse	August/September	Medium size purplish red fruit; Meaty, rich, sweet and firm with yellow flesh. Freestone.	Highly regarded old variety. Very productive; great for fresh eating or drying.	Pollinate with any other European Plum
 Italian	August/September	Medium purple-blue fruit with juicy yellowish flesh; distinctive rich, sweet flavor. Freestone.	Great for canning & drying; early reliable producer.	Pollinate with any other European Plum
 Seneca	September	Large reddish fruit; crisp yellow flesh, very sweet & flavorful. Freestone.	Good for fresh eating, canning and drying; Disease and crack resistant.	Considered self-fertile, better fruit set when pollinated with any other European Plum
 Stanley	September	Medium-large, oval dark blue fruit. Firm yellowish-green juicy flesh with sweet, rich flavor. Freestone.	Heavy annual bearer; good for fresh eating, canning and drying.	Considered self-fertile, better fruit set when pollinated with any other European Plum
 Yellow Egg	August/September	Large golden yellow fruit; firm, juicy yellow flesh. Freestone.	Productive tree; good fresh & canned Rich & sweet when fully ripe; tart if picked early.	Considered self-fertile, better fruit set when pollinated with any other European Plum

JAPANESE PLUM VARIETIES 2023

Variety	Approx. Harvest	Fruit & Flavor	Comments	Pollination
 Beauty	July/ August	Medium size reddish purple fruit; amber flesh with excellent sweet, rich flavor.	Santa Rosa type; great for fresh eating. Consistently heavy crops.	Considered self-fertile, better fruit set when pollinated with any other Japanese Plum
 Burgundy	August	Medium size maroon fruit; red semi-freestone flesh with sweet mild flavor	Productive tree with prolonged harvest period. Pollinizer for pluots & pluerries.	Considered self-fertile, better fruit set when pollinated with any other Japanese Plum
 Hollywood	July/ August	Medium-large red fruit with deep red flesh; Firm, juicy and sweet.	Great for fresh eating and jelly. Ornamental tree with pink blossoms and dark purple leaves.	Considered self-fertile, better fruit set when pollinated with any other Japanese Plum
 Methley	July/ August	Medium to large reddish purple fruit; juicy red flesh with sweet, mild flavor	Good producer. Great for fresh eating and jelly.	Considered self-fertile, better fruit set when pollinated with any other Japanese Plum
 Nadia	August	Size between a cherry and plum. Dark red fruit & flesh. Very firm & juicy; intense sweetness.	Vigorous grower. Developed in Australia; cross between Japanese plum 'Black Amber' and cherry 'Supreme'.	Pollinate with any other Japanese Plum
 Satsuma	August	Medium-large deep red fruit; Firm red flesh, juicy and sweet.	Excellent for fresh eating, canning, & cooking	Pollinate with any other Japanese Plum
 Shiro	July/ August	Medium-large round golden yellow clingstone fruit. Very juicy with a mild sweet flavor	Excellent for fresh eating, canning, & cooking. Consistent annual crop set.	Pollinate with any other Japanese Plum

PLUOT VARIETIES

Pluots are hybrids of plums and apricots. They have predominantly plum heritage with smooth skins.

However, they do have apricot in them so will need heat to ripen & disease may be an issue.

This is for fruit tree enthusiasts only to try out!

 Flavor Grenade	August	Elongated green fruit with a red blush. Crisp texture, sweet with great flavor, a taste test winner	Great for fresh eating; keeps on tree for 4 to 6 weeks	Pollinate with Flavor King Pluot
 Flavor King	August	Reddish-purple fruit w/ crimson flesh; complex, sweet, spicy flavor, another taste test winner	Great for fresh eating; keeps on tree for 4 to 6 weeks	Pollinate with Flavor Grenade Pluot Or Burgandy Plum